A Lively Fist Fight.

A Lively Fist Fight.

Detective John Hayes and Henry O'Neil engaged in a lively fist fight in the office of Criminal Clerk Thomson early yesterday afternoon. The latter had been a witness in the case of Fred Snyder, who was charged with grand larceny. He testified that the detectives had told him that if he testified in Snyder's behalf they would have him sent to the penitentiary. Hayes called him a liar because of this statement, the result being a fight which raised a great rumpus and disturbed Judge Wofford's peace of mind greatly. The two men, who succeeded in causing each other's noses to bleed, were separated by by-standers. The office was crowded at the time.

"I have said it was protective in one part. That part is cotton and woolen fabrics and iron, steel, coal and their manufactures. The cotton and woolen goods schedules of the present law, were the work mainly of Senator Aldrich, of Rhode Island, and the Republicans all voted for it. And the New England manufacturers openly commended it as one of the best acts ever passed. And why? Because it gave them free wool at the expense of the wool growers of the West.

"The metal and coal schedules were prepared by Quay, Cameron and Gorman—receiving the solid Republican support. In fact, the present tariff law is the work of the Republicans and the protection Democrats of the Fifty-third congress—and in opposition to Cleveland and the free trade Democrats.

"The free trade features of the law, as I have characterized them, are not in manufactured goods, iron or coal, but in the free raw material, wool and sugar and metals, peculiarly Western. I am not defending this tariff law, which destroyed reciprocity, but it will not do for men who opposed Biaine's great policy when presented, to now pose as its champions, exclusively, when it had to be forced into legislation of the country by Maine's great statesman—a friend of silver as well as of reciprocity.

"Next came the war, when with paper money alone and all we needed, we fought out the most gigantic and expensive war of history and got rich in doing it. And we lost the gain by doing as we have done with our railroads—gave all the profits to the usurers who did nothing but discount into gold the blood of our sacrifice.

"And then came the new discovery, the new recovery—the most wonderful of all advances in human progress and civilization—the silver era following the war, when the great roads were built and an empire of free commonwealths created in one brief score of years. Truly does Mr. Sherman speak in this case, that plenty of good money is as important as rights and privileges. It has been the very life-blood of all rights and all privileges. Let us maintain the liberties we have won by keeping that life-blood in its highest condition—plenty of gold and silver money. "Gold alone is neither good nor plenty money—but gold and silver from the mines—mined free and coined free—have done all that I have described—from the close of the middle ages to the crime of 1873. Let us keep them companions and free comrades as the propaganda of progress for all time. Plenty of money allows to all the freedom of self-control and personal independence. The natural aspiration of the human soul to rise into better conditions does the rest. Usury rusts the soul of him who receives as well as of him who pays. Mortgaged muscles never did any work for progress or for self—always for a master. Let us keep them free.

"This is what I have thought to be Republicanism—and come what may it shall be my Republicanism to the end. And so believing, so resolving, I appeal to the future."

Kansas City, Mo., Sept. 24, 'M.

To the Editor of the Journal.

My attention has been called to my name n a published list of vice presidents for a meeting of the Bryan Free Silver Club, to meeting of the Bryan Free Siver Club, to be addressed by Colonel Van Horn at Tur-ner hall to-night. It is evident that some one is either ignorant of my views on the free and unlimited coinage of sliver at 16 to 1, or else has attempted to perpetrate a joke on me. Will you do me the kindness to permit me through the Journal to say that, while I have a high regard for Colo-cel Van Horn personality vet 1 am not at that, while I have a high regard for Colonel Van Horn personally, yet I am not at all in harmony with his views on the silver question, nor can I lend my aid in any manner to advance the political fortunes of Mr. Bryan. It will be my pleasure to use what ability I may possess to aid in the election of that grand patriot and statesman, William McKinley. I believe with him that the present system of currency under which our country has prospered as no country on earth has prospered, should be maintained, and such a policy of gavernment be pursued that the business world will have confidence that capital prudently invested will be safe and return a fair dividend for its use, so that the mills will be again opened, the money business world will have confidence that capital prudently invested will be safe and return a fair dividend for its use, so that the mills will be again opened, the money now being hoarded away be brought forth from its hiding places and labor be employed and paid a fair price in dollars "as good as gold"—I cannot see how the doubling of the value of the property of the rich mine owner can be of any material benefit to the poor man. Confidence in the stability of our financial and business systems is what the country needs, so that the money we now have will be put into circulation. I do not believe that the platitudes and harangues of Mr. Bryan nor the rantings of the Stones and Tillmans will tend to restore such confidence. I do not believe that the denunciation of our supreme court and threats of personal violence to our judges or to our successful business men will inspire a feeling of safety in investments in manufacturing enterprises or improvements. Even if I were a believer in the free coinage of silver at 16 to 1, I could not stand with Mr. Bryan on a platform that resurrects that old pernicious doctrine of states' rights—a doctrine that the brave men who fought over it a third of a century ago thought was shot to death and buried forever when the stars and bars went down at Appomatox and the stars and stripes went up forever over a reunited country. I would expect if I were to stand with my honored comrade. Van. Horn, in aiding in the election of Mr. Bryan, who says he indorses that damnable plank in the Chicago platform, that the blood of my 300,000 comrades slain on the battlefield in opposing that pernicious doctrine would cry aloud to me in my dreams; that the cry of the widows and orphans of my dead comrades would haunt my slumbers and fill my waking haunt my slumbers and till my waking thoughts; that the skeleton forms of brave men who starved at Andersonville and in Libby prison would rise up before me day and night and drive sleep and rest from me with their solemn and awful protest against a desertion of the principles for which we fought—No, no, I can't train with the crowd nor adopt their views. Respectfully, W. F. HENRY.

It is desired that all persons who are intending to make speeches for the county ticket send in their names to Chairman McCoy, and that the ward clubs send to him their names and places and times of meeting.

Chairman McCoy will submit a proposi tion to the executive committee at its meeting this afternoon that, it is believed, will, if adopted, result in bringing about complete harmony among the different elements of the Republican party in the city and county. The proposition is to invite each Republican club in the city and county to select one of its members to meet with the executive committee upon such dates during the campaign as may be agreed upon, the members of the executive committee and the representatives to have charge of all the details of the campaign. Each club can, through its representative, arrange for meeting and speakers, and in that way more harmonious and energetic work can be done than if the matter was entirely in the hands of the executive committee. Of course, the county committee will have the approval of the plans of the executive committee, and the clubs' representatives, as at present in the case of the executive committee acting alone. complete harmony among the different ele

UPPER HOUSE REFUSES TO CONCUR IN THE AMENDMENT.

Joint Conference Committee Appointed-Stirring Scenes on the Floor of Both Houses-City Fathers Challenged to Play Ball.

Last night's session of the city council was at times turbulent beyond the custom of that usually dignified and orderly body. There was present a committee of visiting aldermen from Kansas City, Kas., and th fathers of the greater city did their best to show their guests how public business should be conducted. The West Side street railway franchise came up in both houses and a joint conference committee was appointed to arrange the details of one clause which remains incomplete.

In the Upper House.

The West Side street railway franchise ordinance was reported to the upper hous by the committee on streets, alleys and grades, with the recommendation that the house concur in all the lower house amendments save that requiring the company to sell eight tickets for 25 cents after the expiration of fifteen years. The committee further recommended that the company be required to render a report of its earnings at stated periods in order that it might be known when the $50,000 point is reached, which is the minimum sum upon which the be known when the $50,000 point is reached, which is the minimum sum upon which the city may levy its 2 per cent revenue. To arrange the details regarding this report a conference committee comprising Aldermen Wyne, Morgan and Brown was appointed, with the request that a similar committee be named from the lower house. The ordinance, with the committee's recommendations, was passed.

A resolution introduced by Alderman Morgan, requesting that the city clerk be asked to refrain from nominating a successor to Deputy W. M. Sloan, resigned, was ruled out of order. Alderman Morgan explained that his resolution was in the interest of economy. A spirited colloquy ensued, which resulted in Alderman Morgan leaving the room in a pet.

Aldermen C. M. Simpson, C. Hammond and L. W. Logan, of Kansas City, Kas, appeared as a committee to offer a challenge to the mayor and city council of Kansas City, Mo., to play a game of baseball in the interests of charity, the proceeds of the game to be divided equally between the two cities. The challenge was accepted.

In the Lower House.

In the Lower House.

The lower house cleaned up the routine business in the budget and devoted the remainder of the time to scrapping over parliamentary points. Councilman Burrows objected in such vigorous language to what he termed the arbitrary actions of Speaker Smith that the speaker called on the sergeant-at-arms to compel the member to preserve the peace.

The unpleasantness occurred over the motion to appoint a conference committee to discuss the West Side railway franchise with a similar committee from the upper house. Speaker Smith first ruled that the upper house had no right to appoint such a committee until after the lower house had been given an opportunity to recede from the amendments in which the upper house refused to concur. In support of his position, he read about half of a volume of parliamentary usages. Those who favored the appointment of such a committee then achieved their point by moving a suspension of the rules. Councilman Pendergast moved that the speaker appoint a conference committee, and on a viva voce vote the speaker declared that this motion prevailed.

The speaker immediately announced the appointment of Pendergast, Hough and Brinkley as members of the conference committee. Councilman Hough declined to serve, saying that the speaker had not treated him with due courtesy. Councilman Burrows was wrathy over the way the motion had been rushed through. He declared that the speaker knew that the motion of Councilman Pendergast had not been properly passed. All the time he was talking Speaker Smith was pounding vigorously with his gavel, calling the gentleman to order, but Councilman Burrows insisted on having his say out, defying the speaker or the sergeant-at-arms to compel him to take his seat. He declared that the rulings of the speaker were frequently arbitrary and that the members of the house were not treated with due courtesy. When oil had finally been poured on the troubled waters, the house accepted an invitation to play ball with the Kansas City, Kas., council, and Counc n Pendergas and Wolf were named as a committee on arrangements.

ASSOCIATION MAY DISBAND

ROCK ISLAND AND SANTA FE LEAVE THE WESTERN ASSOCIATION.

Lines-Rate War May Be Started at Any Time-Charles F. Joy Is Dead. At Chicago yesterday morning the Rock

Island and Santa Fe railroads gave notice to Commissioner Midgley, of the Western Freight Association, that they would withdraw from the association at the expiration of ten days. They claimed the or-ganization has outlived its usefulness and its members were not living up to the the companies caused some excitement and was at once followed by a smash of rates on fresh meats and packing house products. The new rates are i0 cents on fresh meats and 8 cents on packing house products from Missouri river points to the Mississippi river on shipments destined to points east of the Western termini of the trunk lines. This is a cut of 8½ cents on fresh meats and 5 cents on packing house products from the regular tariff. Rates are also made from Wichita to the Mississippi river of 8½ cents on fresh meats and 14½ on packing house products and similar reductions from Iowa points. All these rates become effective on the 28th of September. The same rates were quoted by the Burlington, that line getting its notice out first at this point. the companies caused some excitement

Stillwater, O. T., Sept. 24.—(Special.) The Stillwater & State Line Railway Company, chartered several months ago, to build a railway from the Santa Fe north of Perry to this city, has turned its charter over to Henry R. Hand, who, with a company of capitalists and railroad men from the East, has made a proposition to the citizens to build the road at once for a bonus of $20,000 in mortgages on Stillwater real estate, a terminus of forty acres and the securing of the right of way. There is no doubt that the conditions will be complied with and the road built at once, Will Build the Line.

Getting Ready for the Battle. Topeka, Kas., Sept. 24.—(Special.) Copies of the bills of complaint of the Kansas City grain men against the Santa Fe and Missouri Pacific Railway Companies were served on the agents of the companies today by United States Marshal Neely, and the cases will be called for hearing in the United States court on October 12. There was some talk for a few days of a compromise in the case, but the efforts failed.

ASTHMA.

Doctors of all schools, kinds and degrees are a unit for once; they all agree that there never has been a medicine used in general practice, or known to the medical profession, competent to cure asthma. They say there is no care for it. This honest admission goes to show that the medical profession is away behind the age, and is not willing to learn or take advantage of a medicine that is competent to cure asthma.

of a medicine that is competent to cure asthma.
